- Kbook: <https://kbook-user-site.onrender.com/>
  - A social media app similar to Facebook where you can share your thought by posting content and show personal aspects by sharing your profile.
  - Building my RESTful API from scratch and successfully establishing the communication between the static front-end site and the Web service I made.
  - Combine all the things I have learned through the Software engineering Bootcamp and additional research of Redux for global state management and use it to enhance user's experience throughout the web application.
  - Used by hundreds of other developers before shutting down because my MongoDB collapsed due to a large number of requests.
- Play Along: <https://nhankhang.github.io/GameOn/>
  - My favorite project with more oriented code, new logic, and different approaches.
  - Simple music application where you have to remember the notes and play them in the exact order given.
  - The assignment's requirement is required Object Oriented Programming, but I decided not to implement it and got a compliment for the creativity of this game.
- Alien Attack: <https://nhankhang.github.io/ALIEN-ATTACK/>
  - A simple game where you can enter your target alien ship that you want to attack.
  - Using Object Oriented Programming as a requirement for the assignment in the boot camp, but I also decided to use HTML, CSS, and Dom Manipulation..
